Message from the ASSP-MEC President

On behalf of the Executive Committee of the American Society of Safety Professionals – Middle East Chapter (ASSP-MEC), I am honored to invite your esteemed organization to take part as a sponsor in the 16th Professional Development Conference & Exhibition (PDC&E), to be held January 24–28, 2027, at the Gulf Hotel, Kingdom of Bahrain.

The 16th PDC&E comes at a defining moment for our industry. Advancements in Artificial Intelligence (AI) are no longer optional enhancements—they are rapidly becoming the backbone of modern safety management. AI is revolutionizing how organizations predict and prevent incidents, analyze complex risk patterns, monitor worker behavior in real time, and automate hazardous tasks with unprecedented precision.

This year's conference will serve as a powerful platform to accelerate the adoption of AI-driven safety solutions across the Middle East and beyond. By bringing together global innovators, industry leaders, government bodies, academia, and technology providers, we aim to reshape how safety is practiced, regulated, and evaluated in high-risk sectors.

Your participation as a sponsor will position your organization at the forefront of this transformation. It will amplify your commitment to creating safer workplaces while unlocking strategic opportunities to collaborate, innovate, and lead in a rapidly evolving (HS&E) landscape.

We look forward to your active role in this groundbreaking event as we collectively advance into a new era where AI empowers safety, saves lives, and sets the new global standard for excellence.

Sponsorship & Marketing Opportunities

In the domain of Sponsorship & Marketing Opportunities, esteemed companies and consultants within the oil, gas, mineral, petrochemical, and allied industries have pledged their support for this event. This endorsement stems from the shared belief that (HS&E) issues hold paramount importance in this region.

The conference and exhibition, both serving as exceptional networking platforms, present sponsors with direct access to potential and existing clients within their target market. Notably, the emphasis on the conference program's quality ensures the attraction of key safety professionals from the region, fostering meaningful connections crucial to your business. The Organizing Committee has meticulously defined sponsorship categories, establishing a framework for meaningful participation and collaboration.
